THE FARMER & PLANTER.

THE May No. of this Agricultural is also before us, and we feel assured from its past success, that it will in future compete with the best agricultural paper now in the South, that we know of, and we are supprised at the indifference of our people to the support of this paper. Although it has a large number of subscribers, it has nothing like one tenth of the support of the farmers which it so richly deserves. We should support it from a sense of State pride, if from no other con-

THE SOIL OF THE SOUTH AND AMERICAN COTTON PLANTER.

THE May Nos. of these useful and entertaining Agricultural journals are on our table, and as usual, laden with choice viands for the farmer's palate. Those of our readers who do not take either or both of these works, should do so at once, and we are sure that they could not expend a dollar or two that would so well compensate them.

The former is published at Columbus, Ga., and the latter at Montgomery, Ala.

WHEN TO USE LIME AND PLASTER.

Land doctoring, like all other doctoring, should be performed with an intelligent reference to the nature of the disease, and the country, and lays out a beautiful estate, adaptation of the remedy. Gen. Bierce, of Akron, is a careful observer of natural phenomena, and withal a successful cultivator. He has recently contributed the following valuable suggestions to the Summit Beacon:

The value of Lime or Plaster, as a manure, depends upon the component parts of the soil to which it is applied. All land has more or less sulphuric acid in it, caused by the decomposition of iron pyrites. The presence of this acid may generally be known by the appearance of the soil, and particularly of the stone. If there is any rust, or oxide of iron, in the soil, or in the stone; or on the top of the water that filtrates through the soil; or if the water is hard, it indicates the presence of sulphuric acid.

If the roots of clover, and herds-grass in the spring, stand two or three inches out of the ground, and in detached parcels, with bare ground between-it is the work of sulphurid acid. On such land, plaster is a posi-dock, it is caused by sulphuric acid. Put on lime and keep off plaster.

The reason wby plaster should not be used on land charged with sulphuric acid, is that plaster is composed of lime and sulphur, and applying that is adding more of that with which the land is already overcharged. On such land apply lime, which unites with the sulphuric acid, and forms plaster. The lime thus neutralizos the acid; and the acid thus neutralizss the lime, and forms a compound nutriment for vegetation.

The reason why the ground appears so hard, where the earth is charged with sulphuric acid, is, that the old stubble has been caten up by the acid.

The sulphuric acid in plaster, applied to decomposes vegetation, and fits it for nourishing the living plants. When there is an both dead and living. This is the reason why soils overcharged with the acid are always deficient in vegetable matter. And soils free from it, have an excess of vegetable matter in a decomposed state.

From the Southern Cultivator. COW-PEAS-HOGS.

Dr. Philips, and on the other by a host, as to tain stages of decomposition, I have attenengagement, to declare to the opponents that grown almost if not altogether as cheaply they are all right. This is strange, but it is, as cotton, if it were not for the uncertainty notwithstanding, often true, that from the and actual loss occasioned by dogs; and its And in the outset of these remarks, permit me to say to Dr. P. that I am just as inexorable in my convictions as he seems to be, and the world cannot move me. In the first of lamb and feeding on swine's flesh instead, place, then, we must admit, that if the cause that worthless people may have worthless JOHN BRIDGES & J. That is, if a long, warm, wet spell, causing the pea to sob and partially rot, causes the death of hogs feeding on them, all adjoining farms should exhibit the same results. But is this the case? Not at all, for no longer than last year, I knew a neighbor to loose a large portion of his store hogs article instead which is positively injurious. while in the pea-field, and he was compelled to remove them, though not the first instance of the same sort occurred on the farms of his friends around him. I was particular to inquire into the case, and am sure from the careful habits, and the experience in farm management of this individual, that his loss was occasioned by no carelessness or tambave known of exceptions (though rarely,) which makes a pretty finish. can be of any thing, that this injurious tendency of the pea is entirely local, and is the know of no root which is better fitted as a occurring on pine lands. I am as sure as I in Jasper county, (in this case deep red land, pea was abandoned from the loss occasioned. But in the long leaf pine lands, we never hear of a case of injury to stock hogs from the pea, arising from any other cause than sheer imprudence. I am satisfied that there is a difference in the pea, both as to its nutritive qualities, and its innocence as a food. The old cow-pea, though the best bearer I know of in the whole family, and the best for winter sowing, is the most objectionable as a stock pea. My advice is never turn hogs into peas empty and hungry, and never give them salt unmixed with ashes. Two distinct trials with pure salt, and two distinct cases of loss, are enough to convince me.

We take the following extract from the address of Rev. F. D. HUNTINGTON, published in the " Working Farmer :" Why do your young men run, as by some universal instinct, from the farm, where they were born, to the city, where they so often learn to wish they had not been born anywhere? Chiefly whatever explanation they may put forward as having a handsomer look-chiefly because on the farm there is tried: supposed to be an inevitable doom to hard, monotonous, wearing bodily toil, from daylight to sundown, life through, with no room for mental expansion, or generous tastes, or after all this labor, the farmer makes too little money. Nor will my faith in young men's natures suffer me to believe this is always a sordid calculation with them. For, in thinking of money, they think of it oftener as a means than an end. They want it for what it brings. On the farm, very frequently, are rooms without books, walls without pictures, manners without grace, clothes without fitness, and grounds without shaping or decoration. On the contrary, the city merchant buys a library and works of art, sends his children to schools where they learn to move with elegance as well as to cipher and parse, gets garments that are finer and fit, and is not so exhausted physically at nighfall as to prefer sleep to any company or book. He comes back into the sometimes with statelier animals, and selecter fruits, and tidier fences and hedges, and more blooming gardens on it, than his neighbor, who has all the while been staying there and making farming the business of his life. Now, it would be a hard task in persuasion to convince most young men that these things are not good, not desirable, and that the dollars which command them are not of the nature of an advantage. I confess I should be a had subject for such persuasion myself. Besides, these things are all of the nature of picture-work; the boy cannot help seeing them; they work upon him while he stops on his way from pasture under the fragrant shrubbery, or peeps and pears. I know perfectly how apt his sanguine blood, and his ignorance of the ninety-odd failures in a city for every single success, are to put a fallacy into his plans and cheat his choice. But none the less is it true, what he goes to the city for is a chance, though lies injury.

If clover and tame grasses die out, and are succeeded by wire grass, sorrel or sour dock it is caused by sulphuric acid. Put on the succeeded by substitution of the substit in the old way of farming, has displayed. Who ever knew a confident and chivalrous youth to doubt he should be one of the five that succeed, though five hundred fail? TALLAPOSSA CO., Ala., Jan. 2, 1852.

DEAR SIR:—I send you this to certify to you that your Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla has performed one of the most wonderful cures on me that has ever been effected on man. I have been afflicted for fosty years with cruptions on my legs and feet; in 1848 they got so bad that I had to go on crutches, and in 1849 I had one leg amputated above the knee. In about nine months after my other leg broke out in large eating and running sores from my knee to my foot, and discharged a great deal of offensive matter. My groin also broke out in large biles, which discharged much offensive matter, and at the same time my left hand broke out in large running sores nearly to my elbow. The misery that I have suffered for the last two years I cannot describe to you. I was in such agony that I never rested day or night.

In October last my son brought me one of your bottle wrappers; I read it, and found record of some wonderful cures performed by your "Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla." I sent and got two bottles of it, and commenced taking it. In two weeks, to my great astonishment, my sores all became easy, and I could sleep all night, a thing I had not done for two years. When I had taken six bottles, my sores got well as if by exchantment. I have now used in all eight bottles of your "Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla." and I consider myself well.

I entreat all of the afflicted to try this medicine, for I believe it will cure any known disease in the world. Eavisside all prejudice and just try it, and proclaim its great worth to suffering mankind and entreat them to take it, for it will cure them. My case is well known to a large portion of South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama, and if any should doubt the above cure, I invite them to call on me, and I will show them the sears. I ean be found in Tallapooze Co., Ala., one mile from Stoc Ferry.

The Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla is peculiarly adapted for females of delicate health, resulting from irregularity of menstrual discharges, and other diseases peculiar to their sex. The proprietor has in his possession a great number of certificates of cures performed, of the above description. We assure the afflicted, that a bottle or two of Dr. Guysott's Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla will at once regulate those difficulties and renew the natural energies.
